Re: First party no-fault lawsuits filed against the Facility, but for which the City of Detroit is the allegedly responsible party

Dear Ms. Miller:

I am aware that approximately thirty first party no-fault lawsuits have been filed against the Michigan Automobile Insurance Placement Facility, but for which the City of Detroit is the allegedly responsible party. I understand that the underlying theory is that, because the City of Detroit is in bankruptcy, the City is financially unable to pay these first party claims. MCL 500.3172.

That premise is not correct. The proposed Plan of Adjustment provides for payment in full of first party no-fault claims, to the extent they are valid.

The City of Detroit asks that you present this letter to the Courts having jurisdiction of these cases in support of dismissal of these lawsuits, so that the claims can be presented to the City of Detroit.
